

Graduation Rates

Data provided is 6-year graduation rates for candidates starting as freshmen as well as those starting as transfer students. It provides the number of students who entered education programs in 2012, 2013 and 2014 and their graduation results after six years (2018, 2019, 2020). The first chart also specifies yearly totals in Teacher Education programs and College totals. Detail charts follow showing how many graduated in the major in which they entered, how many changed to another major in education, and how many changed to a non-education major. The data show that for each of the three-year cycles, the 6-year graduation rates of those who started as freshmen in education programs exceeds the 6-year graduation rates of those in non-education programs by about 10%. Graduation rates of transfer students in education programs were higher than those of non-education programs by 2-5%.
