Steck Tapped to Lead Clark International Center

Henry Steck, political science and a SUNY Distinguished Service Professor, has been appointed to serve as interim director of the James M. Clark Center for International Education.

The Center, which aims to unite the College's many international initiatives under one umbrella, was dedicated to President Emeritus James M. Clark at a November 2004 ceremony. During his presidency from 1979 until his retirement in 1995, Clark is credited with helping to position the College as a study abroad pioneer within the SUNY system.

"As many of you know, Dr. Steck has been a strong visionary and advocate for international initiatives on campus," said Elizabeth Davis-Russell, provost and vice president for academic affairs, in announcing the appointment. "His work has resulted in the development of many programs in Eastern Europe.

"As interim director, Dr. Steck will work with the campus to complete a self-study and help us determine our future directions," she said. "Please offer your support to Henry in this role, and I ask you to join him in his enthusiasm and hard work to make SUNY Cortland truly an international institution and a leader in international education."

Steck, who has taught at the College since 1963, also directs the Project on Eastern and Central Europe (PECE) at SUNY Cortland and oversees a Department of State grant working with the University of Nis in Serbia to develop a program in political science. He serves on the Board of Directors of the Alliance of Universities for Democracy.

Steck is the author of the textbook chapters "Corporatization of the University: Seeking Conceptual Clarity," published in Annals (January 2003);

"SUNY in the 1990s: Politics, Budgets and the Democracy of Excellence," included in Governing New York State, 5th edition (forthcoming); "Contested Futures: Public Higher Education and the State University of New York," published in Governing New York State, 4th edition; and "Contested Paradigms of Higher Education Policy," included in The University in a Liberal State (1996). He is the co-author with Michael Zweig of "Take Back the University," published in Campus, Inc. (2000).

In the last 10 years, Steck has worked to strengthen the linkages between the College and SUNY and institutions in Central and Eastern Europe.

He earned a B.A. from Kenyon College and a Ph.D. from Cornell University. He has served as a visiting professor at the University of British Columbia.

Alumni Reunion Weekend Planned For July 15-17 at SUNY Cortland

Nearly 600 alumni and friends are expected to enjoy class get-togethers, parties and other activities on campus during the 2005 Alumni Reunion Weekend July 15-17.

"Alumni Reunion Weekend is a wonderful opportunity for our graduates from different generations to come together to celebrate their time at Cortland," said Douglas DeRancy '75, alumni affairs. "It's our premier event that annually attracts alumni from all over the country to attend not only class reunions but affinity group gatherings such as for this year's former Arethusa sorority and Gamma fraternity. Adding the affinity reunions has brought more alumni back to Cortland."

A highlight of the weekend is the Alumni Luncheon which begins Saturday at noon in the Corey Union Function

Room. The event honors reunion classes and this year's Distinguished Alumni Award recipients: Ingrida Karlsons Miemis '66 of Westport, N.Y., a retired physical education teacher who 10 years ago established and runs two children's summer camps in her native homeland of Latvia; Therese Sullivan Caccavale '75 of Hopedale, Mass., noted for her highly innovative kindergarten through 12th grade language and French immersion program in the public schools of Holliston, Mass.; and Richard Pollack '77, of Arlington, Va., who has served since 1991 as the executive vice president of the American Hospital Association.

Reunion Weekend will close with a farewell breakfast scheduled on Sunday from 9-11 a.m. in the Corey Union Caleion Room.

For more information, contact the Alumni Affairs Office at ext. 2516.

Fall Opening Meeting Scheduled

President Erik J. Bitterbaum has announced that the opening meeting of the 2005-06 fall semester is scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 25.

Detailed information, including an agenda and response form, will be sent via e-mail by July 28.

The opening meeting will begin with light refreshments at 8:30 a.m. in the Corey Union Function Room followed by the president's state-of-the-College address and updates from vice presidents and the associate provost for enrollment management. The meeting will conclude by noon.

All classified, United University Professions (UUP), and Management/Confidential members of the campus community are invited to attend.

For more information, look for upcoming announcements via e-mail or call the President's Office at ext. 2201.

John Ogden Retires; Director of International Programs Since 1990

John Ogden, the director of international programs at SUNY Cortland since 1990, retired on May 31. He has been awarded the designation of director emeritus of international programs.

He became only the second director of the Cortland program when he replaced Willi A. Uschald, who created one of the first Study Abroad programs in the State University of New York in 1964.

A native of Little Rock, Ark., Ogden grew up in Ithaca, N.Y. He earned a B.A. in French from Brown University. He and his wife, Chris, joined the Peace Corps and taught for two years in Liberia.

Ogden earned an M.A. and a Ph.D. in French, specializing in Francophone African Literature, from SUNY Buffalo. For a number of years, Ogden taught French language and literature at the University of Michigan-Flint, where he chaired the Foreign Language Department.

He served as the Michigan State Provost's representative to the planning committee for the new Japan Center for Michigan Universities, which created a study center in Hikone, Sigha Prefecture, Japan.

In 1981, Ogden was a Fulbright Lecturer at Omar Bongo University in Gabon. He subsequently earned a master's degree in communication from Michigan State University and taught cross-cultural communication at the University of Michigan-Flint.

At SUNY Cortland, Ogden directed an extensive program with 30 study abroad and international exchange sites on five continents. He oversaw initiatives to create new opportunities in Australia, Belize, Costa Rica, Egypt, France, Kenya and Venezuela.

In 1988, the University of North London presented Ogden with an honorary Doctor of the University degree during ceremonies at its Barbican Centre. He worked to develop special programs in health, communications, education, and recreation and leisure studies at the University of North London.

Ogden was the assistant director of the SUNY-Kenya Educational Partnership Project from 1999-2000. The project focused on the feasibility of adapting the community college concept to the Kenyan educational system.

For several years, Ogden was a member of the SUNY Directors of International Education Steering Committee.

He and his wife, who have two adult sons, Curtis and Eric, reside in Cortland.

Gathagan to Direct Faculty Development Center

SUNY Cortland appointed Laura Gathagan director of the Faculty Development Center, effective July 5.

Reporting to Provost and Vice President for Academic Affairs Elizabeth Davis-Russell, Gathagan will work with the Faculty Development Committee to provide professional development programming that meets the needs of faculty.

She replaces Mary Lee Martens, professor emerita of foundations and social advocacy, as director of the center, which is located in Memorial Library.

As software training and support specialist for SUNY Cortland from 2003-2004, Gathagan planned and provided workshops and group sessions in the use of technological tools for both academic and administrative purposes.

She also developed and implemented new programs for faculty WebCT training. In addition, Gathagan expanded the House Call program, which features one-on-one office visits to help faculty and staff with technology issues.

She joined the College in January 2003 as special events coordinator in the President's Office.

Gathagan earned her Ph.D. in medieval history from the City University of New York Graduate Center, and her M.S. in medieval studies from Fordham University.

Her teaching experience includes courses in medieval history at SUNY Cortland and Cornell University. Her article, "The Trappings of Power: The Coronation of Mathilda of Flanders," was published in 2004 in the Haskins Society Journal.
