APPENDIX 6

PRGR Proposed Policy
submitted by K. Polasek, Chair EPC Committee

February 4, 2014

From: Dr. Jerome O'Callaghan, Associate Dean
To: Chair, Educational Policy Committee

Over the last year GFEC and the Graduate Coordinators group have discussed the issue of students falling under the label PRGR. These are potential graduate students who are not yet matriculated into a program because they lack some admission requirements. Typically such students complete a mix of some UG credit and GR credit, and then matriculate into their graduate program. They then complete the bulk of the GR requirements in their program. Some however have completed over 20 GR credits while still in PRGR status. They have in effect completed the bulk of their GR degree without matriculating into a program. While under the PRGR label they are not counted as graduate students by SUNY.

In order to remedy this, we have proposed that a cap be placed on how many GR credits a student may complete while in PRGR status (15). At the point of completing 15 GR credits a student would have to comply with all admissions requirements before he/she could matriculate and take more GR credits. This has two benefits: bringing students into the fold of true graduate status earlier, and making it clear that a student cannot complete the bulk of his/her degree while still missing admission requirements.
