

CENTER FOR GENDER AND INTERCULTURAL STUDIES (CGIS)

INTERDISCIPLINARY MINORS

ASIAN/MIDDLE EASTERN STUDIES

LATINO AND LATIN AMERICAN STUDIES

NATIVE AMERICAN STUDIES

WOMEN'S, GENDER AND SEXUALITY STUDIES

CAREER POTENTIAL

Areas of opportunity:

Advocacy	Graduate study
Communications	Human services
Counseling	Journalism
Community relations	Social justice advocacy

→ The interdisciplinary minors listed above traditionally require six or seven courses for a total of 18 to 21 credit hours.

OFFICE HIGHLIGHTS

SUNY Cortland's Center for Gender and Intercultural Studies (CGIS) promotes diversity, equity and inclusion with a specific focus on intersectional identities. We educate and advocate for social justice across campus and beyond.

AN ALL-ENCOMPASSING MISSION

CGIS addresses issues related to social, racial, ethnic, cultural, economic, sexual orientation and environmental justice concerns. The center focuses on diversity across the curriculum, research, professional development and policy recommendations.

EVENTS AND OUTLETS

Sample events include the annual TransAction conference, which celebrates all gender identities, and a V-card giveaway, which promotes an ongoing conversation about affirmative consent and healthy sexuality. CGIS also organizes the Sexual Orientation and Gender Identity Expression (SOGIE) Committee.

By the numbers

17

faculty and staff members serving on the CGIS board → representing various academic departments, campus offices and underrepresented groups

LEARN MORE

Center for Gender and Intercultural Studies
Old Main, Room 122
607-753-2250
cortland.edu/cgis