

SOCIOLOGY/ ANTHROPOLOGY

DEPARTMENT

MAJORS

ANTHROPOLOGY
ARCHAEOLOGY
CRIMINOLOGY
SOCIOLOGY

CAREER POTENTIAL

Areas of opportunity:

Education	Non-profit sector
Counseling	Public relations
Cultural resources	Research
Human resources	Social services and
Human rights advocacy	management
Law

→ High-achieving students can join Alpha Kappa Delta, the international honor society for sociology, or Alpha Phi Sigma, the national honor society for criminology.

PROGRAM HIGHLIGHTS

Four academic programs explore the study of the human condition by considering how cultures are formed and how they are shaped by human behavior. Students develop critical thinking skills that prove vital in any walk of life.

MAJOR OPPORTUNITY IN CRIMINOLOGY

One of SUNY Cortland's most popular majors, criminology goes beyond criminal justice. Students focus on the nature and causes of crime as well as the analysis of crime control policy. The degree prepares them for careers in law enforcement, the legal profession, substance abuse treatment, youth counseling and more.

INVESTIGATE OUTSIDE THE CLASSROOM

Independent research, internships, fieldwork and study abroad travel in places such as Australia and India help students put their classroom knowledge to use. Brooks Lecture Series and Alumni Speaker Series events also provide outlets for deeper learning and career networking.

By the numbers

200

artifacts in the Rozanne M. Brooks Museum on campus

→ This space offers a hands-on outlet for students to learn how to run a museum and develop public outreach programs.

LEARN MORE

Sociology/Anthropology Department
 Moffett Center, Room 2120
 607 753-2726

cortland.edu/sociology