I. Introduction

We are pleased to present the 2018-19 Annual Report for the School of Arts and Sciences. This year, we were pleased to add a new member to our team, as Vincent DeTuri joined us as the new Associate Dean. Faculty across all eighteen departments continued their excellent work in all areas of responsibility. Christa Carsten, Mathematics, won the Non-Tenure Track Excellence in Teaching Award, and Scott Moranda, History, was the recipient of the Rozanne Brooks Dedicated Teaching Award. Tiantian Zheng, Sociology/Anthropology, was promoted to the rank of Distinguished Professor, and Donna West, Modern Languages, received the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Scholarship and Creative Activities. Kathleen Lawrence, Communication and Media Studies, won the Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Faculty Service, and Jenn McNamara, Art and Art History, received the campus award for Outstanding Achievement in Service. We invite you to read more about the accomplishments of our faculty, students and alumni in the pages ahead.

II. Assessment and Student Learning Outcomes

In 2018-19, all departments in Arts & Sciences met the requirements for student learning outcome assessment. All departments have submitted data on their student learning outcomes or an action plan for the upcoming year. There is continuum in the quality of assessment data and action plans based on the collected data. Four departments are developing methods to assess learning outcomes or need assistance in writing measurable learning outcomes. Nine departments have acceptable learning outcomes with meaningful data and action plans supported by the data. Five departments have well-developed assessment methods and are implementing action plans based on the data.

Some departments are using indirect measurements for assessing learning outcomes. While this is fine to document a student's perception of achieving a learning outcome, direct evidence provides observation of student knowledge or skills. For some departments assessment of student artifacts happens outside of the classroom. One suggestion to reduce faculty workload is to move assessment into the course by merging the assessment rubric with a grading rubric. The excellent reports have measurable learning outcomes and apply a rubric to a student artifact to directly assess knowledge or skill and use the collected data to develop an action plan before the next assessment cycle. In the coming academic year, the dean and associate dean will meet with each department individually to provide them with detailed feedback and discuss strategies for continued improvement.

Two departments, Modern Languages and Africana Studies, completed their self-study documents in 2017-18, but did not host their external reviewers until this year. Dr. Carmen Rivera, SUNY Fredonia, and Dr. Joanne O'Toole, SUNY Oswego, visited the Modern Languages Department on September 14, 2018. Dr. Patricia Clark, SUNY Oswego, and Dr. Doreen Loury, Arcadia University, conducted their campus visit for the Africana Studies program on March 7, 2019.

The Geography and English Departments completed their scheduled program reviews in 2018-19. Both departments completed their self-study documents in the fall semester. The Geography Reviewers (Dr. James Mowers, University at Albany; and Dr. Wendy Lascell, SUNY Oneonta) visited campus on March 29. The English Department reviewers (Dr. Ann Ryan, Lemoyne College; and Dr. Robert Yagelski, University at Albany) held their campus visit on April 1-2. The Art and Art History Department completed its self-study document in fall 2018, and will host their external reviewers' visit in fall 2019. The Chemistry Department also began the program review process but will need to complete it next year. They have also been working on having their degree programs approved by the American Chemical Society (ACS), which will enable them to certify graduating students as having met ACS guidelines. In the coming year, the dean's office will work with the Chemistry Department to ensure that their program review and ACS approval efforts complement one another, and that duplication of work is avoided. Departments scheduled for program review in 2019-20 include Communication and Media Studies, History, and Physics.

The associate dean's office compiled data regarding student academic standing from 2018-19, summarizing it in three tables found in Appendix 1. The percentage of students on probation this year is the highest yet. The percentage of students suspended has dipped to 4.20% from a high of 4.73%, while the dismissal rate of 0.83% is a new high. The appeal numbers for dismissed or suspended students was 38% in the fall and 51% in the spring. Of those students who appealed, 26% were successful in the fall and 43% were successful in the spring. It is also worth noting that the Dean's List group has again passed the 1,000 mark (over one third of the A&S student body).

III. Enrollment Trends and Budget Analysis

A review of the data provided by the Office of Institutional Research and Assessment reveals that overall enrollments in Arts and Sciences have continued a recent trend of relative stability. Key statistics of interest include the following:

- Undergraduate enrollment in Arts and Sciences decreased by about 2% from fall 2017 to fall 2018. The unduplicated enrollment of 3027 represents about 48% of Cortland's undergraduate population. A&S undergraduate enrollment (counting double majors) has remained above 3100 since fall 2011. Under-represented groups made up 26% of the school total, compared with 23% at the college level. Women accounted for 56% of our undergraduates, both at the school and college level.
- There were 766 undergraduate degrees granted in A&S in 2017-18, 19 less than the previous year.
- The departments with this highest number of majors in fall 2018 were Economics, at 458 students, followed by Biological Sciences (365), Communication and Media Studies (318) and Psychology (316). Enrollments across the Adolescence Education programs increased for the third straight year, to 438 students. The Musical Theater program enrolled 50 students in fall 2018, the highest number of majors since the program began. Africana Studies had nine majors in fall 2018, a 20-year high for that program.
- Graduate enrollment in Arts and Sciences decreased for the eighth straight year to a new low of 49 students. Our graduate program in TESOL declined from eleven students in 2017 to only three in 2018. Modern Languages, English and History all participated in discussions during the year to identify strategies for revitalizing their graduate enrollments.
- Retention of first-time, full-time A&S undergraduate students at Cortland improved slightly, from 78% to 79%, remaining below the overall college rate of 80%.

Budget analysis

Chairs reported that their OTPS budgets are generally adequate to support departments' basic operating expenses. However, they are rarely able to support special initiatives. Traditional areas of concern have been funding to maintain and upgrade scientific instrumentation and specialized technology such as audio and video production equipment. The Provost and the Vice President for Finance and Management have provided invaluable support to departments by providing funding for unscheduled repairs, capital equipment replacement, and academic equipment replacement to address these specialized needs. Some departments have established course fees to cover the costs of classes that use consumable supplies, although for a variety of reasons, other departments that would appear to benefit from course fees have had limited success in having them approved. A couple of departments observed that there does not seem to be a readily identifiable source of funding to replace office furniture. Adequate travel funding remains a concern for many faculty, and most department cannot provide supplemental funds.

The Arts and Sciences Dean's Office had $77,648 in expenditures charged to the state operating budget, and another $37,556 charged to the Research Foundation account, for a total of $115,204, a decrease of 0.2% from last year. Travel, in one form or another, accounted for nearly 90% of the spending. Major expense categories included the following:

Faculty conference travel	$82,200	71.4%
Dean's office operating expenses	$ 6,541	5.7%
Travel for faculty searches	$ 6,350	5.5%
Administrative travel	$6,076	5.3%
Travel for student recruitment	$6,057	5.3%
Faculty professional memberships/journal subscriptions	$4,370	3.8%
Student travel	$2,900	2.5%
Honoraria	$ 700	0.6%

IV. Highlights and Major Accomplishments

A. Personnel Changes

New Faculty and Staff (Fall 2018):

Szilvia Kadas, Assistant Professor, Art and Art History
 Stephen Clark, Assistant Professor, Art and Art History
 Elizabeth McCarthy, Assistant Professor, Biological Sciences
 Timothy Halter, Assistant Professor, Chemistry
 Taylor Dunne, Assistant Professor, Communication Studies
 Samuel Jung, Assistant Professor, Economics
 Danica Savonick, Assistant Professor, English
 Katherine Ahern, Assistant Professor, English
 Melinda Shimizu, Assistant Professor, Geography
 Celeste McNamara, Assistant Professor, History
 Yassir Rahbi, Assistant Professor, Mathematics
 Garrett Otto, Assistant Professor, Mathematics
 Jacob Carll, Performing Arts
 Lynn Craver, Full Time Lecturer, Performing Arts
 Jeremy Wolf, Assistant Professor, Political Science
 Yujeong Yang, Assistant Professor, Political Science
 Haiyan Zhang, Assistant Professor, Psychology
 Kent Johnson, Assistant Professor, Sociology/Anthropology
 Vincent DeTuri, Associate Dean, School of Arts and Sciences

Retirements, 2018-19:

Louis Gatto, Biological Sciences
John Hartsock, Communication and Media Studies
Howard Botwinick, Economics
Norallynn Masselink, English (beginning phased retirement)
Karen Stearns, English (beginning phased retirement)
Anne Wiegard, English (beginning phased retirement)
Judith Van Buskirk, History
Catherine Baranello, Modern Languages (beginning phased retirement)
Ellis McDowell-Loudan, Sociology/Anthropology

Faculty and Staff Resignations, 2018-19

Joyce Green, Biological Sciences
Taylor Dunne, Communication and Media Studies
Wan Jung, Communication and Media Studies
Lan Ye, Communication and Media Studies
Kevin Rutherford, English
Benjamin DeLee, History
Melissa Morris, Physics
Brice Smith, Physics
Ben Lovett, Psychology
Brendan McQuade, Sociology/Anthropology
Mark Worrell, Sociology/Anthropology
Elizabeth Saur, Writing Center

B. Sabbatical Leaves and Other Leaves of AbsenceFall 2018

Steven Broyles, Biological Sciences
Alan Haight, Economics
Li Jin, Geology
Raymond Collings, Psychology
Leslie Eaton, Psychology

Spring 2019

Kathryn Kramer, Art and Art History
Tricia Conklin, Biological Sciences
Terrence Fitzgerald, Biological Sciences
Flavia Dantas, Economics
Laura Gathagan, History (full year starting spring 2019)
Wesley Weaver, Modern Languages
Andrew Fitz-Gibbon, Philosophy
Judith Ouellette, Psychology

Full year 2018-19

Karen Downey, Chemistry
Moataz Emam, Physics

Leave of Absence: Jeff Swartwood, Psychology (spring 2019)

C. Faculty Awards and Honors

Seth N. Asumah, Africana Studies and Political Science

- Student Affairs Faculty Connection Award, Certificate of Appreciation, May 15, 2019.
- Recipient of the National Role Model Faculty Award, Diversity, Equity and Inclusion, Minority Access, National Harbor, Maryland, September 2018.

Samuel Avery, Communication and Media Studies

- 2018 Leadership in Civic Engagement Award

Christopher Badurek, Geography

- Fine Teaching Development Award, Faculty Development Center, SUNY Cortland, 2019.
- Inductee, Phi Kappa Phi, National Social Science Honor Society, 2018.
- GIS Professional of the Year, GIS Certification Institute, 2018.

Alexandru Balas, International Studies

- 2018-2019 Community of Applied Learning Practitioners (CALP) Award, Institute for Civic Engagement

Heather Bartlett, English

- Teaching Innovation Grant, Faculty Development Center, SUNY Cortland, 2019
- Fine Teaching Development Award, Faculty Development Center, SUNY Cortland, 2019
- Stan and Tom Wick Poetry Prize for a First Book, Finalist, 2018

Steven Broyles, Biological Sciences

- Recognition at SUNY Cortland's sixth annual Celebration of Men of value and Excellence, (M.O.V.E.), 2018.

Kathleen Burke, Economics

- Longstanding Contributor Award, Presented by the Board to a member who has consistently provided outstanding service to the Academy of Process Educators, 2019.

Jessica Carrick-Hagenbarth, Economics

- Fine Teaching Development Award, Faculty Development Center, SUNY Cortland, 2019.
- Faculty Advisor of the Year to a Sports Club, SUNY Cortland, 2019

Christa Carsten, Mathematics

- Non-Tenure Track Excellence in Teaching Award, Faculty Development Center, 2019.

Anna Curtis, Sociology/Anthropology

- Nominated for the Faculty Development Center's Tenure-Track Excellence in Teaching Award for 2018-2019.

Laura Davies, English

- Transfer Advocate Award, SUNY Cortland Office of Advisement and Transition, 2019

Karen Davis, Psychology

- Fine Teaching Development Award, Faculty Development Center, SUNY Cortland, 2019

Eric Edlund, Physics

- Fine Teaching Development Award, Faculty Development Center, SUNY Cortland, 2019
- Recognition at SUNY Cortland's sixth annual Celebration of Men of value and Excellence, (M.O.V.E.), 2018.

Laura Eierman, Biological Sciences

- Excellence in Service to Students Award, Sigma Alpha Pi, the National Honor Society of Leadership and Success. (2019).
- SUNY Cortland Student Affairs Connection Award, 2019

Katherine Foster, Psychology

- Nominated for Tenure Track Excellence in Teaching Award for 2019.
- Influential Faculty Member, Student Leadership Recognition Banquet, 2019.

Laura Gathagan, History

- Member, Phi Beta Delta, Zeta Xi Chapter, SUNY Cortland, 2019

Scott Holdredge, Performing Arts

- Third place award for charcoal drawing, Mixed media category, Jericho Arts Council, 2019.

Kent Johnson, Sociology/Anthropology

- Community of Applied Learning Practitioners Award, Institute for Civic Engagement, SUNY Cortland. (2018).

Ibipo Johnston-Anumonwo, Geography

- Kente Stole recipient, SUNY Cortland Kente Ceremony, 2019.
- Carnegie African Diaspora Fellowship, University of Lagos Geography Department, 2018.

Samuel Jung, Economics

- Chow Teaching Fellowship, The Chinese Economists Society. (2018).

Szilvia Kadas, Art and Art History

- Design Incubation Fellowship, 2019

Caroline Kaltefleiter, Communication and Media Studies

- Notre Dame Medal for Commitment to Girls Empowerment, 2019.

Christina Knopf, Communication and Media Studies

- Top Paper, Political Communication Interest Group Eastern Communication Association, 2019.

Kathleen Lawrence, Communication and Media Studies

- Chancellor's Award for Excellence in Faculty Service, State University of New York.
- Honorable mention for poem, "What to Do?" Tricube (form) Category, Highland Park Poetry Challenge, 2019.
- Honorable mention for poem, "Dorothy Delivered" Land of Oz Category, Highland Park Poetry Challenge, 2019.
- Poem, "Things That Go Bump & Smile in the Night" nominated for Rhysling Award, Science Fiction Poetry Association (SFPA). (2019).
- Poem, "Vampirette" nominated for Rhysling Award, Science Fiction and Poetry Association (SFPA). Also selected by editor as "Not to Miss" (2018).

John Leffel, English

- Nomination, Tenure Track Excellence in Teaching Award, SUNY Cortland, 2018-2019.

Jenn McNamara, Art and Art History

- Outstanding Achievement in Service Award, SUNY Cortland, 2018.

Scott Moranda, History

- Rozanne Brooks Dedicated Teaching Award, SUNY Cortland, 2019.

Mecke Nagel, Philosophy

- WOC Faculty Appreciation Award, Women of Color Organization, 2019.

Sebastian Purcell, Philosophy

- Research featured in 3000-word article on BBC World, original in Spanish, translated into Portuguese, March 17, 2019.
- Fellow, SUNY SAIL Hispanic Leadership Institute, 2019
- Kente Stole recipient, SUNY Cortland Kente Ceremony, 2019.
- Award for popular audience article “Life on the Slippery Earth” (published in Aeon), Templeton Religious Trust, 2018.

Danica Savonick, English

- Fellow, Digital Pedagogy Lab, Fredericksburg, VA, 2018.
- Bursary Award, Alliance of Digital Humanities Organizations, 2018.

Codruta Temple, Modern Languages

- 2018 article co-authored with Helen Doerr cited as a “Top 20 most read paper” by the Journal of Adolescent and Adult Literacy, 2019.
- 2016 article co-authored with Helen Doerr cited as a “Top ten most read article” by the Journal of Literacy Research, 2018.

Bekeh Ukelina, History

- Travel award, The SUNY Russia Programs Network (RPN), 2019.

Paul Van der Veur, Communication and Media Studies

- Transfer Advocacy Award, SUNY Cortland. (2019).

Donna West, Modern Languages

- Chancellor’s Award for Excellence in Research and Creative Activity, State University of New York, 2019.

Yujeong Yang, Political Science

- Teaching Innovation Grant, Faculty Development Center, SUNY Cortland, 2019.

Tiantian Zheng, Sociology/Anthropology

- Distinguished Professor, State University of New York, 2019.

E. Alumni Awards and Honors

The SUNY Cortland Alumni Association presented awards to six Arts and Sciences alumni in 2019:

- Richard Cecconi '74 (Early Secondary Science), Outstanding Alumni Volunteer. Cecconi, a retired teacher and lacrosse coach, is a frequent volunteer at Senior Sendoff, Orientation, Alumni Weekend and other events.
- Michael Flaster '78 (Philosophy), Distinguished Alumnus. Flaster was instrumental in the development of SUNY Cortland's WSUC radio station, enjoyed a successful career in public broadcasting and is now a respected media consultant.
- Robert Gaeta '00 (Biology), Distinguished Alumnus. Gaeta holds a Ph.D. in plant breeding and plant genetics and works to provide sustainable food solutions for farmers.
- Michael Kerner '75 (Secondary Social Studies), Distinguished Alumnus. Kerner is a highly-respected psychologist who lends his expertise to law enforcement and universities in Northern California.

- Paul Mangiamele '14 (Business Economics), Distinguished Young Alumnus. Mangiamele created downtown Cortland's first Long Island-style bagel shop, sold the successful enterprise and now works for Tesla Motors in Fort Lauderdale, FL.
- Richard Sylves '70 (History), Distinguished Educator. Sylves, professor emeritus in political science and international relations at the University of Delaware, is a leading authority on disasters and public policy.

F. Department Highlights in Teaching, Research and Creative Activity

Arts and Sciences faculty continued to be very active in their disciplines, publishing peer-reviewed scholarly and creative work, making conference presentations, and in many cases, receiving external support for their work. In several cases, faculty received recognition in the form of honors and awards for their scholarly work as noted above. Comprehensive lists of faculty achievements are found in Appendix 2 (Publications and Creative Activities), Appendix 3 (Presentations) and Appendix 4 (External Grants.) In addition, here are other noteworthy activities reported by the department chairs during the preceding year.

Africana Studies

- The Department sponsored the research of six majors and minors and their papers were accepted and presented at the New York Africana Studies Association (NYASA) Conference, York College, Queens, New York in April 2019.
- A Department major, Ms. Alliyah Dookie spent one year at the University of Ghana and she was a recipient of the Alpha Delta Junior Scholarship.
- Three majors/minor participated in the summer faculty-led program at the University of Ghana. Enyonam Mensah, Jasmiri Valerio, and Martha Alvarez traveled with Dr. Bekeh Ukelina and Dr. Jessica Carrick-Hagenbarth (faculty associates to Africana Studies), May 2019.
- The Department successfully organized Black History Month, which involved 26 different events—lectures, Sandwich Seminars, panel discussions, performances, concerts, and talent shows for SUNY Cortland and the Cortland Community, February 2019. The Department collaborated with seven departments for these month-whole programming endeavors, including five speakers from other universities and colleges. The President's Office and Institutional Equity and Inclusion Office provided financial support for Black History Month.

Art and Art History

- Department faculty and staff collectively produced three articles, one curated exhibition, two regional exhibitions, one international exhibition, four commissioned works of art for permanent collections, and two off-site presentations of processes.

Biological Sciences

- Department faculty published a significant number of manuscripts in peer-reviewed journals during 2018-2019. This prestigious list of national and international journals includes Frontiers in Neuroscience (Dr. Banerjee), Current Microbiology (Dr. Chatfield with SUNY Cortland students), Neurotoxicity (Dr. Curtis with SUNY Cortland students), Biocontrol (Dr. Davalos), Canadian Journal of Zoology (Dr. Ducey), Intensive Care Medical Experimental (Dr. Gatto), BMC Plant Biology (Dr. Elizabeth McCarthy), and Molecular Phylogenetics and Evolution (Dr. McCarthy).
- Dr. Eierman received a grant from the New York Sea Grant Program to investigate how plastic marine debris effects the genetics of eastern oysters. Dr. Banerjee submitted a proposal to National Science Foundation and learned after the annual reporting period that the research will be funded. Dr. Davalos received funding from the New York State University Transportation Research Center to investigate the use of a biological control for invasive swallow-worts in New York. In addition, Drs. Davalos and Eierman received funding to assess the threat of co-invading jumping earthworms to New York State. Dr. Curtis continues to have success with acquiring federal funds for her innovative research on biological odor detectors.

- Drs. Nelson and Banerjee led a collaborative grant proposal submitted to the National Science Foundation in early 2019, entitled “Acquisition of a Laser Scanning Confocal Microscope to Enable Multi-disciplinary Research and Training.” Chatfield, Curtis, Conklin, and Broyles served as co-PIs.
- Emily Ammons, received the Beta Beta Beta National Biological Science Honors Society Research Grant. Emily was a dual Biology/Mathematics major and earned the top senior ward for Mathematics.
- Brittany Apuzza received the Dr. Norman Reynolds Memorial Award for her outstanding leadership and research in Biological Sciences. Brittany also received the Atlantic Estuarine Research Society Undergraduate Student Presentation Award at the Society’s meeting this April.
- Jeremy Collings received the Barry M Goldwater Scholarship in April. In addition to this prestigious award, Jeremy is the recipient of the Aldo Leopold Award and the Outstanding Student Research Award from Biological Sciences.
- Samantha Robbins was this year’s recipient of the Outstanding Future Educator in Biological Sciences for her significant teaching Contributions in Biological Sciences I and II.
- Nineteen biology students mentored by eight faculty members presented their work at Transformations 2019.

Chemistry

- Department graduates were accepted into graduate programs at 15 universities.
- The SUNY Cortland Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society sponsored a number of activities during National Chemistry Week, held a chemistry magic show for a local elementary school, and held a cupcake / periodic table activity on campus.
- Professors Hicks, Phelan and Werner all have active external research grants from federal agencies. These grants also contain funding for research partners at other schools. All of these awards include direct support for undergraduate research assistants.
- The department began the implementation of curricular changes, converting the general chemistry lectures and laboratories into separate credit-bearing classes. Organic chemistry will be converted in 2019-20.

Communication and Media Studies

- The department sponsored 120 internships between fall 2018 and summer 2019. Fourteen students participated in Study Abroad programs.
- The department undertook significant revisions of its concentrations in Journalism, Media Production, and Public Relations and Advertising. Work continued on the development of a new concentration in Popular Culture and a new major in Media Production. Both these proposals are currently awaiting final approval by SUNY and NYSED. The department also reactivated the Cinema Study program.
- Discussions with faculty from both the School of Arts and Sciences and the School of Education led to the development of a new course proposal: COM 235 Introduction to Media Literacy. This course is designed to meet the GE 12 course requirements and should appeal to students from across campus.
- The department hosted Candy Altman '77 as an Executive in Residence. In addition to working with students in five courses, Altman participated in an interview jointly hosted by our three student media clubs. Together they produced collaborative coverage including a live radio program, television program, and newspaper article.

- The One-Button studio was installed and piloted in two sections of our public speaking class.
- The department developed a proposal for a master's degree in the area of media literacy. This degree will be designed for media professionals seeking career advancement, as well as for educators looking to upgrade their skills.
- The Media Innovation fund, first established in 2007, has now matured to the point that we can begin awarding grants to students. The first grant was awarded in spring 2019, and was used to purchase a drone capable of acquiring aerial 4K video. The student recipient is currently using this drone to complete his thesis project. Once he completes his work, the drone will remain in the department and will be available for checkout/use by other students.

Economics

- Two faculty members participated in the Common Problem Pedagogy project. Dr. Wilson offered Political Economy of the Adirondacks for the second straight year. This summer, his students worked with GIS students led by Dr. Badurek, Geography. In the spring, Dr. Carrick-Hagenbarth's Economic Development students worked with Professor Ukelina's history students and the Seven Valleys Health Coalition.
- Dr. Burke created online modules to help prepare students for the IRS Certification Exams and the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance interns.
- Professor Graham supervises and coaches our MGT423 teaching assistants who attend two computer labs per week. Written reflections from students indicate that the experience greatly increased their understanding of the material and improved their communication skills.
- Department faculty collectively produced 12 publications, 28 presentations, 2 research reports, and 8 working papers.
- Applied learning opportunities in the department include internships, undergraduate research, teaching assistantships, and study abroad. Students can participate in the NY College Federal Reserve Bank Challenge Team, work on developing products for not-for-profit agencies, join the entrepreneurship club or the Mutual Investment Club, and obtain their IRS certification while serving as volunteer tax preparers for low income residents of Cortland County.

English

- The fourteen tenure-track faculty in the department published four peer-reviewed journal articles (McKenzie, Radus, and Bradway twice), two book chapters (Bender and Bradway), two book reviews (Bender and Radus), an article in the Chronicle of Higher Education (Savonick), and an edited collection of essays (Bradway, After Queer Studies from Cambridge UP). Two faculty edited and contributed introductory essays to special issues of scholarly journals: Bradway for College Literature and Savonick for the Journal of Interactive Technology and Pedagogy. Also worthy of special notice, Tyler Bradway's book, Queer Experimental Literature (Palgrave, 2017) was published in a paperback edition this year.
- In 2018-19, English Department faculty gave thirty presentations at international and national conferences, including several who presented at the most prestigious conferences in their fields: the Modern Language Association (Radus, Savonick, and Harbin twice), the American Studies Association (Radus and Savonick), the Conference on College Composition and Communication (Davies and Ahern twice), NCTE (Franke), and the Literacy Research Association (McKenzie). English faculty also gave eleven invited talks and keynote addresses at other colleges and universities, including Bradway (Cornell and West Chester), Davies (Syracuse and LeMoyne), and Savonick (Duke, Rutgers, CUNY Grad Center, Arizona State, and Simon Fraser).

- Laura Davies has two contracts with W. W. Norton & Co., one for They Say/I Say: The Moves that Matter in Academic Writing, fifth edition and one for They Say/I Say with Readings, fifth edition. These two texts are the best-selling rhetoric and reader on academic writing, used at over half the colleges and universities in the United States. The fourth edition of They Say/I Say sold over 2 million copies. The anticipated publication date of the new edition of both texts is November 2020.
- Heather Bartlett and John Leffel organized the Distinguished Voices in Literature lecture series, now in its fourth year. They hosted five events that drew crowds of 50-130 faculty and students to hear three readings by contemporary poets and novelists (Elissa Washuta, Chen Chen, and best-selling novelist and poet Sapphire) as well as two lectures by distinguished scholars, John Havard (Binghamton University) and Frances Botkin (Towson University). In addition to these vibrant cultural events, the three writers in this year's DVL series (Washuta, Chen Chen, and Sapphire) conducted writing workshops, each providing twenty interested undergraduates with unique educational opportunities.
- As Co-Coordinator of the Native American Studies Program, Dan Radus organized a public lecture on "The Native American Athlete," by Michael Taylor, with 50 attendees.
- As a member of the Campus Climate Diversity Committee, Jeffrey Jackson facilitated two focus groups: "A Conversation on Race" and "A Conversation on Faith, Religion, and Spirituality."
- The English Department hosted three Works in Progress panel discussions, designed to engage our undergraduate and graduate majors with ongoing faculty research and current developments in the field of English Studies. Coordinated by Dan Radus, this year's Works in Progress series included "The Teacher-Scholar" with Professors Ahern, Dunbar, Jackson, and Savonick (35 attendees) "Creative Writers at Cortland" with Bartlett, Franke, Hernandez, and Weatherby (65 attendees) "Pleasure Reading" with Bradway, McKenzie, Saur, and Stone. (50 attendees)
- Danica Savonick and Kim Stone co-sponsored "Adventures in Worldmaking: Snapshots of Graduate Studies in English," an event where English graduate students presented their research to an audience of 25 graduates and undergraduates.
- Laura Davies continued her highly successful partnership between the English Department's AEN program and Homer Junior High School to provide an after-school writing workshop with tutoring provided by AEN majors participating in their teacher education fieldwork.
- Kati Ahern's PWR 393: Technical Writing students worked with a group of students enrolled in a video game design class at St. John Fisher to produce sound assets for video games.
- David Franke's PWR 409: Evolution of Writing students travelled to New York City to study ancient writing artifacts at the New York Public Library and the Morgan Museum.
- Danica Savonick's CPN 100 students researched current issues in education and presented their findings for the more than 16,000 members of the academic network HASTAC.org. Students from Savonick's graduate course in "Feminist Worldmaking" also posted their research to HASTAC.org.

Geography

- The department members received favorable CTE scores and positive comments, with many courses earning a 4.5 rating or higher. Throughout the year, the Department served students from 84 different majors.
- The department offered the second year of its reworked Learning Community, Our Future World, in the fall with 13 students enrolled, two of whom were GIS majors. Students accompanied faculty to Raquette Lake as part of the Learning Community Experience.
- Department faculty published conference proceedings, newsletter articles, book reviews, and maps. A book is in progress, and a journal article and book chapter have been submitted.

- Department members presented “The Undergraduate Experience at SUNY Cortland, a Faculty Perspective” at the premier geography conference, the Association of American Geographers annual meeting.
- Department faculty received two major external grants this year, including a SUNY Innovation in Information Technology Grant for $54,200, and a grant for $150,000 to establish the Institute of Geospatial and Drone technology through the Cortland Downtown Revitalization project.
- Faculty are involved with the Owasco Lake Watershed Association, Great Lakes Southeast Basin Working Group (DEC), Cortland YWCA, Cortland Zonta, the Syracuse City School District Geospatial Technology Advisory Council, and the Cortland County Planning Board, among others.
- Students participate in numerous service learning activities within their courses with organizations such as the Cortland County Health Department and the City of Cortland Landscape and Design Commission.

Geology

- The department began offering the new Environmental Geoscience (ENVG) program, developed from the former Geology major with a concentration in Environmental Science. Several internal students have switched into the new program and almost half of our incoming students for fall 2019 are choosing this program.
- This past year was the second with our Geology (GLY) program as a licensure-preparation program for the New York profession of Geologist. We are now developing protocols with the College Registrar for submitting lists to NYSED of our GLY students as they approach the end of and complete their program, thereby enabling these students to take the ASBOG Fundamentals of Geology exam as the first step towards licensure. This spring David Barclay wrote a short guidance document for the New York State Council of Professional Geologists about the process of registering a licensure-qualifying program to help encourage such programs statewide.
- Gayle Gleason taught a new course, SCI 380: Energy and Environment, for the first time in spring 2019. This GE12 course explores the nexus of the difficult decisions relating to energy supply and was well received by students.
- Excellent teaching continues to be a hallmark of the Geology Department. This year CTE adjusted mean scores for all courses and sections taught by full-time and part-time faculty were at or above 4.0 (n = 29) with 21 scores at or above 4.5. We take much pride in providing outstanding classroom instruction and are pleased that students in our classes are expressing satisfaction with our efforts.
- Research with students remains central to the work of faculty. This year, four students were mentored in research by faculty (David Barclay, Robert Darling, Li Jin and Christopher McRoberts) and there were two student presentations from the Geology Department at the Northeastern section meeting of the Geological Society of America in Portland, ME, in March 2019.
- In the late summer 2018, the department received 50 new lab stools for Bowers 333 and 336 from a successful Call for Alterations proposal. Bowers 339 also received an upgraded classroom projection system and in June 2019, the department was very happy to take delivery of 24 new PC notebook computers to replace 16 outdated notebooks. These will all help improve the student experience in our programs.

History

- The department hired a new secretary, Corrina Harvey, who brought a strong work ethic to the department.
- The department’s enrollment and retention numbers have been improving. There were 207 history majors in fall 2018, the first time since 2014 that we had more than 200. The first year retention rate improved from 59% in 2017 to 74% in 2018. We believe that our new curriculum, with Public History and Experiential Learning requirements, and an upward employment trend in education hiring will help us continue to increase our enrollments.

- Department faculty have introduced a number of teaching innovations. Several faculty members incorporated digital assignments into their classes to encourage their students to develop historical thinking skills and an awareness of a public audience. As a result, history students (and students taking our survey courses) are becoming proficient at developing digital exhibits, video podcasts, digital scrapbooks and oral history archives. Evan Faulkenbury has developed a close working relationship between the department and the College Archivist and has helped to start the building of a SUNY Cortland oral history collection. He has also promoted internship opportunities for history students in places such as the Warwick Historical Society, the National Racing Hall of Fame, SUNY Cortland's Camp Huntington, and the National Jazz Museum in Harlem. Girish Bhat team-taught a course with a faculty member from another department. Scott Moranda and Bekeh Ukelina both participated in the Common Problem Pedagogy project. Amy Schutt organized two brown bag discussions on SOTL teaching methods, and Scott Moranda presented his use of an annotation software to the department for discussion and potential adoption.
- History faculty collectively produced 44 scholarly publications, 44 scholarly presentations, 22 grants and 17 examples of working papers, creative works, or other scholarly activity.

International Studies

- A European role-play simulation developed by Alexandru Balas and Andreas Kotelis (2017 Visiting Instructor) was used for the First Model EU Conference in Brazil in November 2018. Prof. Balas was invited by the EU Delegation in Brasilia to run this simulation for the participants from 15 Brazilian universities, and to serve as a guest speaker and judge for the simulation.
- The students representing SUNY Cortland were awarded the role of the European Union Commission team for the 2020 SUNYMEU Conference as an acknowledgement of the excellent work they have conducted as Presidents and Chairs of the 2019 SUNYMEU Conference.
- Student in the IST 210 participated in a Community of Applied Learning Practitioners (CALP) exercise in spring 2019. The students were taught basic research methods skills to gather primary data by interviewing foreign-born people in Cortland County, in order to conduct a needs assessment. This was an interesting way to link the concepts of international studies with the needs of people in the local community.
- The International Studies Program co-sponsored the participation of 16 students in the SUNY Model European Union conference, April 4-6, 2019. Among the 15 university delegations present, Cortland had the highest number of students.
- Three IST Students (Sarah Kelliher, Ludwin Carbajal, and Elianna Bodnar) were accepted in the Global Engagement Program (GEP) for fall 2019. This highly selective program offers a fall semester in NYC to only 20 students. Students take classes/seminars and intern at high profile international organizations.
- Alexandra Cicero presented her research titled "Are Asian Women More Liberal?: An analysis of data from Japan, China, Taiwan, and South Korea" at the 2019 Midwest Political Science Association Conference, Chicago, IL, April 2019

Mathematics

- The department made some changes to the student learning outcomes for the AEM program and rewrote the course descriptions for AED 392 and AED 492 to bring them into closer alignment with the CAEP assessments.
- Because of the Moffett renovation, the department was relocated to the house at 29 Broadway and an adjacent trailer.

- Rachel Summa received the William H. Reynolds Award for Outstanding Achievement in Mathematics by a Senior, Emily Ammons received the department's award for Outstanding Achievement by a Senior, Jessica Wrate received the David L. Pugh Award for Superior Achievement in Mathematics by a Junior, and Kaitlyn Gott received department's award for Outstanding Achievement by a Junior.

Modern Languages

- Last year, department faculty had 15 publications, 18 presentations, 3 grants, and 8 awards/honors. The number of professional development activities (23) attests to the importance our faculty place in the constant improvement of their academic and teaching skills.
- Collen Kattau developed and offered a new course, Latin American Music Across Borders in fall 2018.
- Our TESOL program continues to attract students. From fall 2017 to fall 2018, the number of TESOL majors remained above 50, and the number of minors grew from 16 to 19.

Performing Arts

- We have recruited and enrolled our two largest classes in the Musical Theatre Program over the last two academic years. This year we had 130 prospective students audition for the program, an increase of almost 100%.
- Our alumni have continued to do well as musical theatre professionals, most notably 2010 graduate Anthony Festa garnering rave reviews across the country as the male lead, Chris, in the first National tour of the Broadway Revival of Miss Saigon. We have alumni working this year in 10 national and international tours, on several major cruise lines, at over 20 different professional NYC, regional and summer stock theatres as well as major theme parks.
- Jacob Carll performed as the Associate Conductor and keyboardist on the National tour of Elf, the Musical. He served as musical director for All Shook Up at the Sharon Playhouse and South Pacific at the Cape Playhouse. He also served as musical director for Annie Get Your Gun as part of the Sesquicentennial Celebration.
- Deena Conley directed Les Liaisons Dangereuses and The 25th Annual Putnam County Spelling Bee, featuring the musical theatre debut of Dean Mattingly.
- Kevin Halpin directed and choreographed Jesus Christ Superstar to standing ovations and packed houses at Tibbits Opera House in Michigan. Halpin received the Starquest regional Dance Competition "Apogee" Award for his choreography on "Brother Love" at the TheatreDanz company ;
- Handel's Messiah conducted by David Neal was the opening concert in the newly christened Rose Hall at 19 Church Street. The College Community Orchestra, conducted by Ubaldo Valli, also performed two concerts in this new space.
- We were saddened by the sudden loss of our dear friend and colleague, Preston Mayre, whose loss will be felt by all of us, forever. We are excited to be dedicating the scene shop in his name this fall, and thanks to a generous donor, we are also starting a scholarship fund in Preston's name.
- After the discovery of a racially biased incident in the Lab theater, the department held a forum to discuss the issue. The resulting dialogue was extremely valuable in opening up new levels of support and understanding aspects of inclusion and acceptance of diversity in the theater world.

Philosophy

- During the year, the four tenured/tenure-track faculty members, including one on sabbatical, served on 47 committees, published 1 book, 7 articles and book chapters, 4 book reviews, delivered 21 presentations, and received two grants totaling $10,000 in external funds.

- Dr. Fitz-Gibbon, on sabbatical, continued his outreach into Cortland County through the Welcoming Strangers Project, and work with Cortland County Social Services in training careers and caseworkers in nonviolent practice with children in foster care.
- Dr. Nagel enjoyed a busy year, representing Cortland in Fulda and Barcelona, with a number of invited talks, keynotes and subsequent publications. She also received the Women of Color Faculty Appreciation Award.
- Dr. Karkov had three articles come into print and he finished a translation project of three further essays to be forthcoming in the following academic year.
- Dr. Purcell was featured in a full-length BBC World article, was selected for the Hispanic Leadership Institute, received the Kente Stole (Honorary) for his work in diversity and inclusion on campus. He also continued publishing at a regular pace and served as an invited speaker on campuses as diverse as Seliguri in India, to Princeton University. Finally, he continued to engage students in transformative education in his Learning by Giving class, helping students think through and practice distribution of limited funds to needy causes.
- We acknowledge the invaluable work of our pool of capable adjuncts: Drs. Kim Evans, Daniel Murphy, and Ute Ritz-Deutch, Ms. Karin Howe and Ms. Kaeti Manning.
- During this academic year, the number of majors in the program has held its numbers at about 30 majors and 40 minors in either social philosophy or peace and conflict studies. Eleven majors graduated in May, and one more shall in August.

Physics

- The physics student population remains robust with enrollment essentially at the 20-year average. It also remains diverse with 28% of the student being female (compared to 20% nationwide).
- Students remain satisfied with the effectiveness of instruction with a departmental average of 4.3 for the CTE prompt “Overall, this instructor is effective” for fall 2018.
- During the year, Dr. Edlund had two publications, three presentations, and two research reports. He received a grant from the U.S. Department of Energy and had two new patents.
- Dr. Edlund participated in the Common Problem Pedagogy project in spring 2019, pairing one of his courses with a course in graphic design taught by Dr. Szilvia Kadas, Art and Art History.
- The physics club continued to be active. It was a joint host for the Haunted Bowers event, presented prosthetic hand work at two undergraduate research symposia, sponsored a speaker to come to campus, took trips to Boston (Harvard labs visit) and Adirondacks (telescope use).

Political Science

- The department organized a fall meeting of majors at the end of September, its spring Seniors/Honors luncheon held at the Alumni House at the end of classes in May, and a luncheon for majors, graciously funded by the office of Advisement and Transition as part of the new “love your major” initiative. We held the event on President’s Day, February 18, served a variety of food and, in honor of President’s day, provided a Presidential Quiz. We awarded books on the presidency to the three students who answered all the questions correctly. Around 25 students, plus faculty, attended the event.
- Tom Pasquarello organized, and the department co-sponsored and helped fund the visit of former CIA Station Chief and Russia expert John Sipher, who gave a campus talk on October 30 on Russian hacking of U.S. Elections. The event drew a capacity audience of over 300 in a Sperry lecture hall. Sipher is the son of the late Cortland history professor Roger Sipher.
- We inducted 32 students into the Cortland chapter of Pi Sigma Alpha, the national political science honors society, the second highest number ever (last year was the highest). One of our majors, Rebekka Higgins, won a highly prestigious state-wide award, the Benjamin and David Scharps Award for Best Essay on a selected legal topic. She is the first Cortland student to win this SUNY-wide competition in two decades. In addition, Alliyah Dookie won an Alpha Delta Junior Scholarship. Allison Yero won the Pi Sigma Alpha Best Portfolio Award; Kristin Russo won the Award for Outstanding Achievement in Law and Justice, and Sara Sampson won the William Rogers Memorial Award for Excellence in Political Science.

- Faculty members published one book, one book chapter, four journal articles, and nine op-ed articles in newspapers. They presented five papers, gave 17 presentations, won one external grant, and were very active in a wide array of service activities, ranging from the campus to international service. Prof. Asumah in particular continued his extraordinary service activities at all levels, and won a National Role Model Faculty Award.
- According to the senior exit interviews, 25% rated their advisement experience as excellent, 25% as very good, 33% as good, and the remainder (17%) as “fair” and “other.” None rated it poor. This is a heartening indication that the department is doing a competent job with advisement. Our exit interview respondents also note uniform and overwhelming praise for department office manager Deb Dintino, referring to her as “a great resource,” “extremely warm, welcoming, and helpful,” and “the sweetest!”

Psychology

- Assistant Dean Mary McGuire served as interim chair of the department this year.
- During the fall and spring terms, faculty worked with over 100 undergraduate students in teaching, research assistantships and internships. Dr. Kaitlin Flannery and her undergraduate research assistant received a SUNY Cortland Undergraduate Summer Research Fellowship for their proposed work titled “Do Individual Adolescent Characteristics Predict how an Adolescent will React Following a Friendship Dissolution?” Dr. Joshua Peck and his undergraduate research assistant received the David F. Berger Summer Research Fellowship for their proposed work titled “The Exposure and Loss of Environmental Enrichment Mediates Alcohol Consumption in Adolescent Female Rats”.
- The department's new minor in Forensic Psychology was approved by the College Curriculum Review Committee. The new minor includes two new courses--PSY 365: Psychology of Criminal Behavior and PSY 489: Forensic Psychology Seminar. The minor and both new courses will be available to students beginning in fall 2019.
- Drs. Berzonsky, Bonafide, Collings, Davis and Eaton collectively published eight peer-reviewed journal articles. Drs. Berzonsky and Peck also published work in other venues. Drs. Bonafide, Collings, Eaton, Flannery, Kilpatrick and Zhang delivered international, national, regional or local presentations/workshops.

Sociology/Anthropology

- Full- and part-time faculty in the Sociology-Anthropology Department taught 62 sections of GE courses across six categories (1, 3, 4, 6, 11, and 12), ten WI courses, six PS courses, and one Honors section.
- Tiantian Zheng was appointed to the rank of SUNY Distinguished Professor in spring 2019, our department's second such honor in the last two years.
- Three of our students were recognized at Honors Convocation for their achievements in their respective majors: Jessica Goon (Anthropology Award for Outstanding Academic Achievement), Carly Miller (Rozanne M. Brooks Sociology Award for Outstanding Academic Achievement), and Rebekka Higgins (Criminology Award for Outstanding Academic Achievement). Jessica Goon also received the Delmar C. Palm Award for Exemplary Volunteer Service at the Department's Honors Luncheon on May 8. Sixteen students were inducted into Alpha Phi Sigma, the national honors society for criminology and criminal justice, an increase of two over the previous year. Eleven sociology majors were inducted into Alpha Kappa Delta, the international honor society for sociology, five more than the previous year.

- A total of 427 students were registered across our four degree programs as September 2018, roughly the same as the previous year. We have 303 returning students registered for next fall and 125 new students who have paid deposits as of mid-June. Of the 428 students we are expecting, 301 are in CRIM, 110 in SOC, eight in ANT and nine in ARC.
- The department's internship program, coordinated by Herb Haines, placed 11 students in agencies during fall 2018 and 16 for the spring 2019 semester.
- Eleven of our majors (five Sociology majors and six from Criminology) studied abroad in seven different countries: Germany, Ireland, Italy, Jamaica, Mexico, Spain, and the United Kingdom.
- The Ethnic Studies concentration will be deleted and the Applied Anthropology concentration will be replaced with "Action Anthropology" (a combination of Applied Anthropology and more proactive "activist" skills), scheduled to launch this fall.

G. Faculty Service Activities

Faculty in Arts and Sciences continue to provide significant service to their departments, the school, the college and the profession. Below we provide an overview of faculty who held key leadership positions as department chairs, program coordinators, and committee chairs. Please refer to Appendix 5 for a more comprehensive list of faculty service activities.

H. Associate Dean 's Report

Each year the office of the Associate Dean has to address a wide variety of issues raised by students and faculty; most of them resolved to everyone's satisfaction. This year we continued that trend: we processed hundreds of withdrawals, course substitutions, graduation checklists, leaves of absence, permission to transfer forms, and change of grade forms. The typical week in this office includes student appointments covering many topics: internship permissions, study abroad permissions, probation status, fellowship opportunities, student teaching eligibility, grade disputes, late registration requests, and attendance problems. In addition, there are numerous committee meetings, “drop-in” appointments and various other opportunities for practicing our problem-solving skills.

The major time commitment in this office is devoted to meetings; committee meetings are inevitable and often have ancillary obligations. More important to the mission of the office is the commitment to student meetings. Looking at the Associate Dean’s calendar, we can roughly measure the number of students seen. From August 2018 to May 2019, we found the following data: over 370 probation appointments and 262 drop-in or other appointments. These numbers do not take into account student phone calls, urgent consultations with faculty, parent phone calls, advice via email, etc. We invest a significant amount of energy in reviewing graduation checklists and following up in those cases where the student’s status is murky but graduation is possible. Meeting with students, listening to their concerns and advising them on how best to proceed is the most vital component of our work. For each student on probation, meetings occur every 3-5 weeks per semester.

Everything in the associate dean’s office depends greatly on the dedication, skill and patience of Michele Lella. This has been a very busy year for her as she been helping Dr. DeTuri transition into his new role. This added additional time and mentoring to her workload. In addition, Michele took the primary role in scheduling appointments for Assistant Dean Mary McGuire. In her routine work, Michele is quick to help students in need, and assists them in finding the right policies, offices to visit, next steps, etc. She keeps a friendly disposition when talking to students and parents, and she is consistently careful in dealing with our critical letters at the end of the semester (suspensions, etc.). She handles stressful periods (and stressed out students) with great poise. Most importantly, she has kept the Associate Dean and the Assistant Dean on task. She has earned exceptional performance evaluations.

The full plate of the Associate Dean’s routine responsibilities includes:

- Addressing daily student appointments and telephone calls
- Maintaining student records for all Arts and Sciences undergraduates and graduate students
- Maintaining student records for all Pre-majors
- Meeting with students on academic probation to monitor progress
- Addressing parent issues, via email, telephone and sometimes in person
- Conducting Alpha Delta scholarship interviews and making recommendations
- Reviewing readmission applications and transcripts
- Disposition of various student requests: late add/drop, course withdrawals, leaves of absence, course overloads, DegreeWorks questions and college withdrawals
- Disposition of faculty requests: course substitutions, change of grade
- Reviewing catalog pages for department and program descriptions
- Reviewing all A&S graduation checklists
- Review/approval of proposals for study abroad
- Review/approval of proposals for CPV400/COM399/ECO401 internships
- Review/approval of requests for time-conflict resolution
- Addressing graduate student concerns (e.g. extensions, probation status, thesis completion, etc.)
- Evaluating midterm estimates and sending warning letters
- Reviewing records of students who left years ago without a degree and are potential readmits
- Evaluating final grades, determining probation contracts, academic suspensions and dismissals
- Preparing appeals materials for the Academic Standing Committee and completing communications related to appeals

Committee membership:

- Ex officio, Arts and Sciences Curriculum Committee
- Ex officio, College Curriculum Review Committee
- Ex officio, Academic Standing Committee
- Ex officio, Graduate Faculty Executive Committee
- Ex officio, Chancellor's Award for Student Excellence Committee
- Academic Hall of Fame Committee (Chair)
- Teacher Education Candidate Review Committee
- Honors Convocation Committee
- Title IX Committee
- CURE Advisory Committee
- Academic Advising Committee
- Mid-semester/Early Alert Committee
- Behavior Assessment Team

Other Regular Meetings:

- Associate Deans and Registrar's Group
- Arts and Sciences Chairs' Council

Other Responsibilities:

IDP majors – There was little change in the progress of IDP majors this year.

Graduate Students – The associate dean is responsible for upholding college academic standards (a few probation letters and warnings each semester). This office also warns students about the five-year deadline and reviews records to see which students have been absent for a significant amount of time and should be cataloged as “inactive” in Banner.

Conferences – The associate dean attended two SUNY Deans meetings in Albany and Buffalo.

Campus Communication – The associate dean's office maintains frequent communication with advisors, parents, department chairs, faculty, staff, Health Services, Counseling, Registrar and other offices as required to solve student problems. We routinely publish the minutes of the A&S Curriculum Committee.

Fellowships – As the campus fellowship advisor, the associate dean worked with many good students to encourage them to develop applications regarding research or study abroad. One student applied for Fulbright, unfortunately the proposal did not win funding. Jeremy Collings applied for a Goldwater scholarship and won the award. We are currently working with five students interested in applying for a Fulbright, one student applying for a Mitchell Scholarship, and one student applying for a Rhodes scholarship.

Student Learning Outcome Assessment – The associate dean has been working with the campus-wide SLO committee on getting all programs to list learning outcomes in the catalog. The committee charge for the upcoming year is to get all assessment data uploaded into Watermark and course-level learning outcomes into the catalog.
